

In Search of the Holy Grail – Where is it? It is closer than you think!

By Peter Tongue©2007

When I gave up my career as a Principal of an independent senior high school over two years ago, I had no idea what was in store for me as I began my journey Walking Between The Worlds. It certainly has been a fascinating and challenging time that I would not change for anything.

The driving force for the change initially came from the students; the youth and children at the school, who were having extraordinary experiences. They started coming to me and telling me their stories. Some of these stories included their precognitive dreams – clear lucid dreams in which they were emotionally engaged – the scenarios for which then manifested sometime in the future; sometimes within a few days, weeks or even years. Many of them had the ability to see auras around people, intuitively knowing which teachers and adults genuinely cared about them and which ones were just marking time. These children will not work for anyone who is insincere or manipulative! They can see past-life situations around people, which are affecting them in their current lives. They are healers seeing blockages and inflammations in people's bodies and they can help to release them. After hearing their truths, I was thinking, how crazy it is that we make these children study all of this academic content, which has no relevance to them in any way, when they could be honing their skills and bringing higher vibrations of peace, healing and love to humanity and to our Planet. So, I left my job!

The intention was to set up schools that actually work for these children. To facilitate the learning they need to fulfill their passion, their HIGHEST purpose for being here, while maintaining a basic mastery of traditional topics. That was over two years ago and the school is still to come into manifestation. Clearly, I have had some work to do on myself first to clear the way. When adults engage with these children at their most creative level, we have to clear out all of our issues, dross and residues, before we are ready to co-create with them. We have to be constantly in our integrity and behave authentically and ethically, as they know and reflect our energies like a perfect mirror. So what did I have to clear out of my system before I could fully engage with these children?

Having left the school, I asked spirit to guide me into the next phase of my life. I was extremely surprised at what happened! I became engaged in helping people in the last stages of their earthly life – dying of cancer. This was a total surprise. There was something that I needed to learn from these extremely challenging situations. It was the process of crossing over, the way in which the consciousness of the individual crosses the void into the next world. This is how I caught a glimpse of those souls, who in some examples stay trapped in the void. Surprisingly and wonderfully, these processes lead me to assisting in the conscious birthing of babies, helping to bring them through the void in the opposite direction. I can tell you now that it is somewhat ironic that we cry when someone dies and we are filled with joy when a new baby arrives. In some ways, in terms of the experience of the soul, it should be the other way around!

Next was the introduction to Alchemy; the real alchemy of the transmutation of the base metals, iron, lead and tin into the precious metals of silver, platinum and gold. I had the rare opportunity to experience this process, which takes place at the furnace, 2000°C, with dangerous molten metal and poisonous gases. Not an experience I would recommend to anyone, but a process I had to go through and experience. I now realize that I had to be tested by the metals and prove my worthiness. It is the ultimate test of purity of intent and consciousness. As I am still here, I obviously passed that test, which next provided me with an understanding of not only alchemy at the furnace, but the alchemy of the human spirit! Alchemy always works in threes - the trinity - the substance to be transmuted, the intention set by the Alchemist and the Holy Spirit, all three needing to be in perfect resonance of consciousness. My next epiphany was this: if the alchemical process works for metals, can it work for us?

Fortunately, working with alchemy to refine the human spirit is a much gentler transformation. I realized working with alchemy that the intention can be used through a meditative process to transmute our consciousness. The transmutation of the human spirit into its most refined form can be achieved by working with the etheric Alchemical Gold, the Philosopher's Stone and the Elixir of Life. This is where the search for the Holy Grail comes in. It actually exists within our own skulls. By following a meditative process you can activate the key centres of the brain to move towards enlightenment. At the same time, it is necessary to remain focused in the heart. Once you have discovered the secret of the Grail, you have the huge choice to make. Are you going to keep it to yourself having power and control over people, OR are you going to use your newly acquired gifts to serve humanity? Many members of the human race have reached this point before and kept it to themselves for their own gain. What will you do? I have made my choice.

So what is the connection between crossing the veil in death, the spiritually awake children and alchemy? I will leave you to decide as this has been my path for the last two and a half years. What I do know is that we are ready to create schools for the future – the new paradigm - for the evolving consciousness of human kind!
